

PRACTICE FOCUS

Mark Dimenna is an attorney in Offit Kurman's commercial litigation Practice Group. Mark is a trial attorney with extensive first-chair experience. Most recently, Mark worked for a local Baltimore firm handling matters involving construction litigation and business disputes. Prior to that, he worked approximately seven years in the litigation department of the City Solicitor's office for Baltimore City. Mark practices construction law and has experience in government contracting and procurement law. Mark has handled significant cases in complicated construction delay and defect claims, particularly when they overlap with claims of errors and omissions by the design team.
