

PRACTICE FOCUS

Travis Hise is a family law practitioner resident in Offit Kurman’s Bethesda office. He works closely with his clients to successfully navigate the challenges they face and reach the best possible outcome.

Mr. Hise has advised clients through all stages of divorce, custody modifications and child support determinations and, when necessary, has handled related litigation. He also has experience administering estates and litigating multiple estate issues, including the removal of personal representatives and will caveats.

A life-long resident of Maryland, Mr. Hise knew from an early age he wanted to become a family law attorney after experiencing first-hand the effects that divorce and custody battles can have on young children.
