The same approach that makes our firm attractive to legal practitioners also gives clients access to experienced counsel in every area of the law.

Our Story

Brothers Maurice and Ted Offit, along with childhood friend Howard Kurman, started Offit Kurman as a boutique law firm in 1987. By 2001, the modest Owings Mills, Maryland-based firm began growing quickly through affiliations with other small practices. It was at this time that Offit Kurman's unique compensation system was put in place: the founders believe in rewarding people for the profit and productivity they bring to the firm, not their seniority.

It was also around this time that the Offit Kurman team realized they could grow at a sustainable pace through lateral acquisitions in strategic markets. To manage its growth, the firm brought on its first non-legal employees. Together with the founders and several Practice Group leaders within Offit Kurman, these professionals soon formed a management committee and set an ambitious goal for the firm: to grow to 100 attorneys by 2010.

Offit Kurman met and exceeded that goal and today is 225 plus attorneys in 15 offices across 8 states and the District of Columbia.

However, in the words of Ted Offit, Offit Kurman “does not grow for growth's sake.” The firm's continued expansion is driven by clients. With each new attorney who joins, Offit Kurman deepens its value and service offerings as a comprehensive legal partner that leverages large-scale capabilities with a small-scale focus on every client.
