How We Do It

To help safeguard and protect your interests, our commercial litigation attorneys are well versed in helping you limit risk and maximize protection. We efficiently and effectively handle matters in a manner that reduces your commercial litigation costs, while providing the specialized expertise that you've come to expect from Offit Kurman Attorneys At Law.

When litigation is unavoidable, our commercial litigation attorneys are trial-ready. Offit Kurman litigators have successfully represented both plaintiffs and defendants at all levels of state and federal courts. With our breadth of experience in commercial law, we capably represent your interests in any size dispute. We work hard to tailor the legal strategies you need with an emphasis on quick, practical results. The firm also has a substantial appellate practice in both the federal and state courts and is regularly retained by clients to handle their interests on appeal.

Working in close association with attorneys in all of the firm's practice areas, the Commercial Litigation Team has the resources and experience to prepare and try all phases of complex disputes including discovery and electronic evidence issues, evidentiary hearings, injunctions, arbitrations, trials, and appeals.
